

FATE OF ARMS PARLEY RESTS WITH FRANCE

Officials Believe Mussolini's Response Hinges on Action of French People

JAPAN ACCEPTS PLAN

Outright Refusal from Two Nations Not Expected by President Coolidge

Washington, Feb. 19.—The fate of President Coolidge's new disarmament conference rested today where every disarmament question has rested since the Washington conference — with France.

The first reaction of the powers to the American proposal has been precisely as anticipated by officials of this government. It was said (only—approval and indicated acceptance by Great Britain and Japan, cautious examination on the part of Moscow, in Italy, and hostility and coldness on the part of the French.

the French navy remains to be seen. His most officials here it is felt to be wholly problematical, and there is no great optimism over and favorable to opinions from Paris. On behalf of President Coolidge, it was said he has no feeling, private or otherwise, as to what France will do.

being more or less upon France. Both are Mediterranean powers. Both were treated alike at the Washington conference as to ratio in capital ships, being accorded 1.9:1 as against three for Japan, and five for Great Britain and the United States. French and Italian interests are to a large extent similar.

Outright refusal of the Cabinet to inflation is not expected, however, from either France or Italy. Neither could afford to be put in such an institutional position before world opinion. It was pointed out today.

What is rather expected from France is "an acceptance in principle" which may mean something of working at all things accepted "in principle" the general theory that further naval ex-tion is desirable, the French could then go ahead and surround their compliance with such conditions as to make it largely meaningless. Such was the course of French strategy at the Washington Conference toward Yugoslavia. France did not like, and there is no reason to believe it has changed materially since 1922. Incidentally, France has yet to ratify the five-power naval treaty.

Make France's Protection
It is held here to be extremely doubtful if France, in any event, would agree to accept the 1:47 ratio on submarines, light cruisers and destroyers, such as was imposed on her in capital ships at the Washington Conference. French statesmen declared then, and have declared many times since, that a great force of submarines is France's protection against a superior naval power, meaning England, and they had no intention of giving it up.

The usual course in such matters is to "sound out" foreign governments in advance on such proposals. However, American diplomats have covertly sounded out Europe on many times on the proposal in the last three years.

FRENCH REPLY TO U. S. SAME AS REJECTION
Paris, Feb. 22.—The French cabinet today in a short note said that the French government, directly concerned with the situation in France, could not share the responsibility which the United States alone is to assume.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem. This involves gathering information about the situation and the people involved.

2. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to analyze it. This involves breaking the problem down into its component parts and understanding how they are related.

3. After analyzing the problem, the next step is to develop a plan. This involves deciding on the best way to solve the problem and the steps that need to be taken.

4. The final step is to implement the plan. This involves putting the plan into action and monitoring the progress.

AUTO CLUB TO MAKE TEST OF LEFT TURN PLAN

Special Committee Named To Arrange for Demonstration of Proposed Traffic Change

A proposal to amend Marion's traffic code by changing the plan of making left turns at signal-light stations on uptown street intersections came before the board of directors of the Marion Auto Club at its semi-monthly meeting, yesterday, and the discussion ended in appointment of a special committee to confer with city officials in considering the question.

City Solicitor George T. Gorman was present in response to an invitation from the auto club officials and the proposed traffic code change was discussed with him for an hour or more following luncheon at Hotel Harding.

Agree On Test

It was finally agreed that a test will be made at one of the uptown street intersections where traffic is heaviest in order to ascertain whether the proposed new left turn plan would be practicable here. The test will probably be made early next week. John Abel, Z. B. Houghton and C. W. McClain were named as a committee to represent the auto club in arranging the test and in other proceedings in connection with suggested traffic rule changes.

Under the rule now in force, automobiles are required to stop at the right of signal standards and wait for the "go" light to flash before turning left across an intersection.

Should the change suggested be made, cars would make the left turn immediately after passing the signal standards and move on as soon as there is an opening in the traffic line.

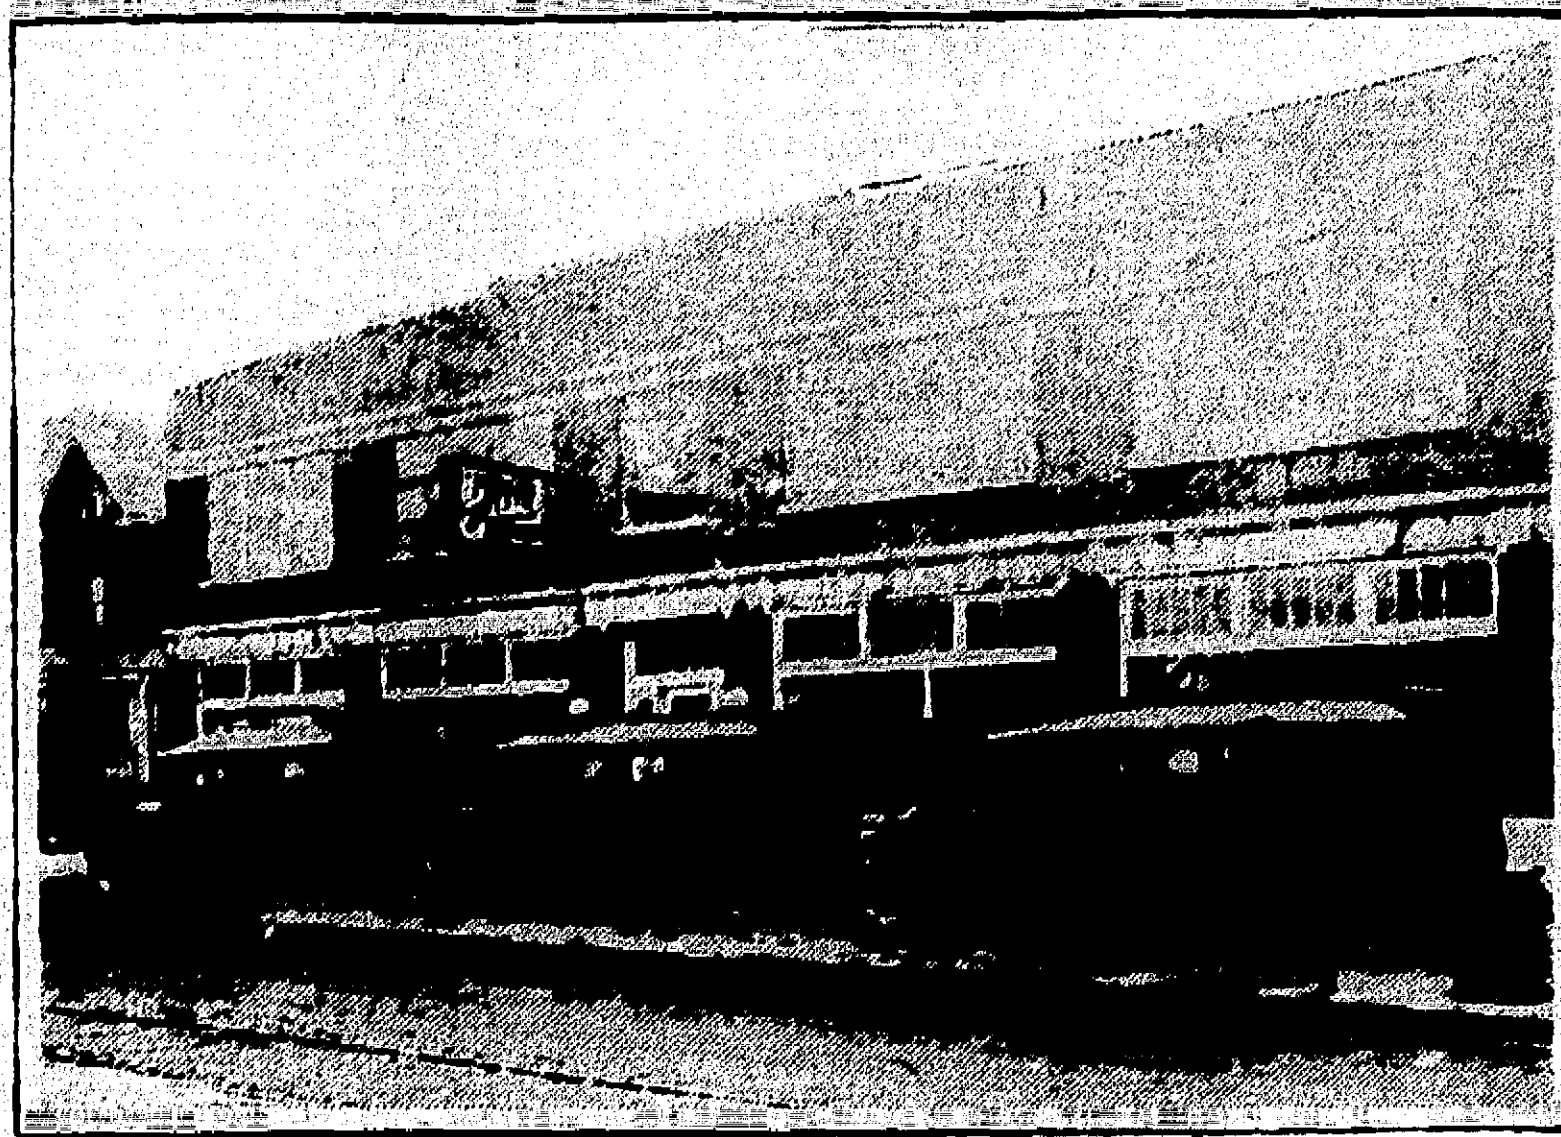

Arguments for and against both the plan now in force and the one suggested as a substitute have been advanced. Whether the proposed change will be recommended to City Council depends largely upon results of the test next week, it was stated today.

Says Plan Here Old

It is claimed by persons advocating the change that the left turn plan now in effect here is considerably out of date and is used by comparatively few cities.

Officials of the auto club made it clear today that their organization has not taken a stand either for or against the suggested new left turn system but is merely following a general policy of cooperating with city officials in striving to establish the most satisfactory traffic conditions.

MARION BUICK CO. SUPPLIES DELAWARE BUSES

Three new Buick buses were placed in service at Delaware this week by the C. D. M. Electric Co., completely replacing the local car service in that community. The buses were purchased from the Marion Buick Co.

The buses are 12-passenger, plus a seat for the chauffeur. They are of 200-inch wheel base and are built from a regular seven passenger Master Buick sedan chassis. The finish is orange durg with a red belt line with black band. "Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co." and the slogan "Through the Heart of Ohio" are lettered in gold on each side.

Armed sheet steel was used in building these buses. The doors are operated by the driver. All windows may be raised or lowered, and the glass is of a new safety type which will not fly or shatter when broken. The seats are ratten with leather air cushions. The interior finish is mahogany. Extra heavy steel bumpers are provided in front and rear. The buses cannot exceed 25 miles per hour as a special safety precaution. All three will be operated on the "pay-as-you-enter plan." Each has an emergency rear exit, and all have four wheel brakes. The bodies were especially built for the Marion Buick Co. by the Flexible Body Co., of Loudonville, O.

1,200 AUTOS IN CITY WITHOUT 1927 LICENSES

Auto Club Secretary Says That Number of Cars Are in Storage

There are approximately 1,200 Marion automobile owners who have not obtained 1927 license plates, according to records at the office of the Marion Auto Club, the county's central license distribution agency.

Nearly all of these 1,200 are automobiles who keep their cars in storage during the cold weather season and do not driving whatever until the arrival of spring, Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the auto club, stated today.

Conservative motorists

There are a large number of local car owners who are still more conservative, Mrs. Gallagher says. Their machines remain in storage until summer and are used only during that season of the year.

The 1,200 license plates now on hand at the auto club office will probably be distributed before April 1, and at that time a new supply of 4,000 plates will be received from state headquarters at Columbus. These 4,000 will all be sold before the close of the year, many going to new car owners and others to persons who limit their driving to the warm weather season.

Annual Sale, 14,000

License sales in the county total about 14,000 annually.

MORE THAN 200 ATTEND MOOSE CELEBRATION

Fiftieth Anniversary of Lodge is Observed with Delegations Present

The fiftieth anniversary of the organization of Marion Lodge, No. 859, Loyal Order of Moose, was celebrated last night with a banquet and entertainment held at the Moose hall on E. Church-st. with more than 200 persons in attendance.

Included among the guests were delegations from lodges in Gallon, Huron, Delaware, Kenton and Fairbury. The entertainment consisted of the program was addressed by James A. Ford of St. Wayne, one of the most prominent officials of the national Moose organization. He is grand regent of the Mooseheart Lodge and one of the board of governors of Mooseheart, the order's home for the aged located near Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. Ford's address was based almost entirely upon the work of the order, especially in connection with Mooseheart, and also Mooseheart, the orphan home maintained by the organization.

Mooseheart was described as being one of the largest and most efficient orphan homes in the country. Mr. Ford pictured the ideal conditions which prevail there, providing boys and girls with every possible wholesome home influence and the best of educational facilities.

Where children have been left fatherless, but whose mothers are living, the mothers are given the privilege of obtaining employment at Mooseheart and thus retain the companionship of their boys and girls, the speaker said.

Care for Dependents

At Mooseheart, a home is provided for both husbands and wives who become dependent because of age or infirmity. These are the order's dependents, who are taken care of and assigned to well-furnished living quarters and given all of the comforts and conveniences of home.

The program, which started at 8 o'clock and preceded the banquet, served at 9:30, included music by the local Moose band under the direction of its leader, H. H. Farley.

There were several recitations by Margaret Brooks, aged seven, and her brother, Bernard, aged 10, which proved to be among the best features of the entertainment. These two children, who live with their parents on a farm north of the city, were the winners in a county oratorical contest held some time ago.

Miss Margaret Brooks, 17, a third member of this unusual family, was also on the program for a series of readings but was unable to be present because of illness.

Guests

Other features of the program were selections by the Osgood quartet, made up of our Osgood Co. employees, and music by the Hawaiian Trio, three local guitar and ukulele players.

The banquet was served by the local Moose Legion, the ladies' auxiliary of the organization.

The committee on arrangements, which had full charge of plans for the anniversary event, consisted of W. N. Crouse, Chas. Price and John Butts. Mr. Crouse presided during the program.

The local Moose lodge has made substantial progress since its organization 15 years ago. Mr. Crouse stated in connection with the anniversary observance. It now has about 400 members and is in excellent condition financially. It owns a property on E. Center-st. where a lodge home will probably be built in the near future.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTEST ARE OUTLINED

Schools Entered in Inter-High Meeting Receive List of Rules

Instructions for the Inter High School contest, which will include most of the county high schools, have been drawn up and sent to each high school in the county.

The Literary Committee of the county school organization drew up the instructions. This committee is composed of J. M. Diley, M. D. Shumaker, H. L. Miller and H. L. Brown. The preliminaries are to be held on March 25.

Eight events will make up the Inter High contest. The schedule of the contest, showing which schools are to meet in the preliminary contest, is being drawn up today by the literary committee and will be available early next week.

The finals of the Inter High contest will be held the night of April 1. Only the winners of the preliminary contest on March 25 will take part in the final contest, and the winner of the County Championship will be awarded a large silver trophy. The winners of each event in the preliminary contest will be awarded a large banner.

The contest program consists of:

An essay, not more than 1,000 words, on "Abraham Lincoln," an original story, not more than 1,000 words; a dramatic reading; a humorous reading; a three minute oration; a debate on the subject "Resolved: that present day conditions justify national slavery for the farmer"; an instrumental solo, with piano accompaniment and a vocal solo, with piano accompaniment.

Students entering the essay and story contest must send three copies of their manuscript to the office of County Superintendent Hayburn, not later than March 15. The manuscript must not have any signature or other identifying marks on the paper. A slip with the student's name is to be enclosed with the manuscript.

To Name Judge
Each school is to name one judge, and the third will be named by Superintendent Hayburn. The judges will grade each event as it is given, on a basis of 100 points as perfect. These grades will be added up by other persons and the results announced.

Scoring of contests will be done on a basis of each event, except the oration and the debate, counting two points for the winning school. The oration and the debate will count three points. This will give a total of 21 points, and the schools winning the greatest number of points in its home and visiting contest will be declared the winners in the preliminary contest and will be entitled to enter the final contest April 1.

Six Women Pallbearers for Man Far from Dead

Pleasant Lake, Ind., Feb. 12.—Isaiah Birdseye Smith, 78-year-old Civil War veteran and former postmaster of this city, has chosen six neighbor women as his pallbearers who are to officiate at his last earthly ceremony, which he confidently expects to take place from 10 to 15 years hence.

Mr. Smith has made full plans for his well-being after death and erected his own monument in Pleasant Lake cemetery from red, white and blue granite, which he purchased in Wisconsin. The monument now stands within sight of his home, 12 feet in height and weighing 10 tons. The veteran, who was formerly a stone mason, did all the work with his own hands.

He has expressly stipulated to his relatives and friends that his body is not to be laid to rest in a sealed vault, giving as his reason, "I'm planning to come out of the grave at the first sound of Gabriel's trumpet just as lively as I used to, when in my old Civil War outfit."

Dedication Memorial Day
Civil war comrades and the entire populace of Pleasant Lake are planning to aid Smith to dedicate his unique monument, next Memorial Day. Judge William N. Bailey, of Fort Wayne, Ind., will deliver the dedicatory address. The ceremony will be followed by a free chicken dinner in a neighboring church for all who care to attend. Music will be played during the program by the Pleasant Lake Juvenile band, orchestra and drum corps.

The women chosen by Mr. Smith are all former friends of his wife, who died in 1922, and are, as he says, "all husky girls of about 100 pounds and good looking, too."

The veteran served during the Civil War in Company D, 115th Indiana Volunteers, and Company K, 44th Indiana Volunteers.

For eight years preceding his abandonment owing to few survivors.

FORD'S THEATER NATION'S SHRINE UNDER NEW PLAN

See Danger of Fire to Building Where Lincoln Was Assassinated

Washington, Feb. 12.—Arouned by the danger of famous old Ford theater where Abraham Lincoln was shot and totally wounded by John Wilkes Booth, being wiped out by fire, a group of members of congress have rallied to a proposal to make the theater a national shrine.

The danger of destruction by fire is increased, it is declared, by the fact that thousands of small bundles of paper are stored in it by the War Department.

The theater a dingy musty old building, is usually passed up by sight-seeing guides who pilot tourists through stately government buildings and past magnificent homes of foreign envoys in the national capital. But a stream of visitors wanders into Fourth street each day to gaze at the building, and the old house across the street, in which Lincoln died.

Complaints Are Made
Many complaints have been made by tourists who have found the building being used as a storehouse.

The plan proposed by Senator Watson, (R) of Indiana and Rep. Nathan, (D) of Illinois is to remodel the building to protect it against the danger of fire and the ravages of age. They would make it a headquarters for veterans organizations and place in it the famous Oldroyd collection of Lincoln relics.

Opposition has developed to the proposal to make the museum other than a shrine. Spokesman for veterans of the World War have already indicated their belief that if the building is made a veterans' headquarters it should be solely for the veterans of '41 and '45.

Report Shows Epworth M. E. Church Activities Growing With Bettered Facilities

More Than 1,300 Men, Women and Children Gather Each Sunday To Take Part In Services In Five Departments of Church

There is the religious activity of Epworth M. E. Church and Sunday school has been in keeping with that activity. A report compiled by Dr. L. L. George, pastor, and the heads of the various departments of the church and Sunday school, shows that the church has recently expended an estimated cost of $30,000 in remodeling of the entire basement, comprising a floor space of 10,000 square feet, and including the installation of a new heating plant and new lighting fixtures, and proof partitions, and greatly increased the efficiency of the church.

More than 1,300 men, women and children gather at the church each Sunday for Sunday School and are divided into five departments, the cradle roll, kindergarten, primary, junior and intermediate departments.

Perhaps the most interesting of all is the intermediate department where 100 new pupils of the "teen" age were admitted last Sunday. The department has been divided into seven rooms, made available by the use of the partitions, under the direction of Jesse H. Mason and Paul Holling.

Raymond F. Fletcher carries on the work of the junior department, where the number enrolled now totals 230. This department is separated into classes according to age, the most careful supervision being exercised in training the youth in this more advanced department.

More than 200 pupils attend the primary department which is under the supervision of Mrs. Grace Shiffert and Mrs. Homer Henderson with the assistance of 10 capable instructors. Charles Brown conducts the song services in this department.

Sharing the rooms of the intermediate department is the kindergarten division, numbering about 70 children between the ages of four and six. Mrs. Homer Waddell, supervisor, is assisted by a large and well-trained corps of competent teachers who entertain the children each Sunday with tales of the Bible in song and story.

The cradle roll department, exclusively the property of the little tots, numbering 35, is under the direction of Mrs. T. J. Mills and a large corps of workers. Here each Sunday all children under the age of four years are admitted, accompanied by their parents as guests.

Raymond F. Fletcher, advertising manager of the Marion Star, will give a talk on "Mud" at the Sunday School session at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at First Reformed Church, according to announcement made today by Rev. Herbert F. Weckmueller, pastor of the church. Robert Swisher will be heard in several vocal solos. Mrs. Erle Houser, chorister, accompanying him.

"Foreign Missions Day" will be observed at the service at 10:30 o'clock at which time the 50th anniversary of the beginning of foreign mission work in the local Reformed Church will be celebrated. Rev. Weckmueller will preach on the subject "Come, Carry, Go," and the choir will entertain with several special musical numbers.

Rev. Weckmueller will preach on the subject "Appearance and Reality" at the service at 7 o'clock.

HAYS GENEROUS

Appraisers are to value the former postmaster general's earthly goods so he may give one-tenth to the pension fund of $15,000,000.

CALVARY MEN'S CHORUS TO GIVE SACRED CONCERT
Members of the Men's Chorus of Calvary Episcopal Church will entertain with a concert of sacred numbers as an half-hour prelude to the Sunday night service at the church, Mrs. G. L. Midlam will contribute a vocal solo. The program is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

Rev. C. L. Allen, pastor, will preach on the subject, "Marion's Greatest Problem," the third of a series of sermons on the general topic, "The Greatest Things in Marion."

SOJOURNERS LODGE TO ATTEND CHURCH IN BODY
Members of Sojourners Lodge No. 633, F. and A. M., will be guests at the Sunday night service at Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church at 7 p. m. Feb. 25. Rev. Alfred W. Swan, pastor, will preach on the subject, "Concrete Stuff."

Don't! Don't!
BY REV. HERBERT F. WECKMUELLER
Pastor, First Reformed Church
WE are living in a perilous age. Whenever a negative note is sounded, we tremble, for its harshness strikes upon our modern ear. Children sulk at the word "don't"; youths and maidens openly revolt at the mention of the word, even adults frown upon it. We dislike being told what to do; we rebel at being told what not to do.

Yet, some thousands of years ago an all-wise, all-loving God gave to the children of men ten commandments, and every one of those ten commandments have one has a "Thou shalt not" in it. Are the children of men wiser in their rebellion than the God who made them, and who decreed the "Thou shalt not's"?

Whenever there has been a religion worthy of the name, wherever there has been any sort of civilization, no person has been permitted to act upon all of his impulses. In our state penitentiaries are 3100 men who had to be imprisoned because they thought they could do as they pleased. There is no freedom without limitations of freedom. Whenever our privileges transgress upon the privileges of others, we need a negative commandment. If we cannot recognize someone else's rights ourselves, then we need some authority from without to recognize them for us. We need a "Don't!"

The negative commands of God and of God's wise men are not barriers of tyranny, they are signposts of love. They guide man with all of his weakness and frailties of the flesh into the path of righteousness which leads to real freedom, a freedom which is based on the positive commandment of Jesus:

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, with all thy mind, with all thy strength." This is the first and great commandment. The second is like unto it: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Until that love possesses our entire being, we need some "Don't's."

More Than 100 Churchmen Gather at Hotel Harding for Presbytery Conference

Rev. William Porter Lee, Pastor of Germantown Church, Germantown, Pa., Addresses Meeting; Discusses Plans for Raising $52,291 Locally for Pension Fund

In the interests of the $18,000,000 pension plan, it has received the approval of one of America's foremost life insurance companies," Reverend Lee said.

To Preach on Subject
"The united efforts of 1,000 Presbyterian ministers will forward the campaign Sunday by preaching on the subject of the pension fund, and, once understood, we will be marching like a mighty army answering the command of the High Voice and following the Great Example. For is this thing not pleasing to the Lord, the head of the church, Jesus Christ, who helped the needy and was sympathetic to the burdened? Were He with us today, would He not say, 'Do it unto Me?'"

Reverend Lee compared the pension plan to a wagon. "It is the problem of the layman, preacher, poorman and richman alike," Reverend Lee said. "It is their duty to co-operate and remove a burden from the mind of the preacher and conscience of the church. It is truly Presbyterian in that it is the poor man's problem as well as the rich man's. The rich man cannot do it alone; all are not so generous. But with the poorman, richman, preacher and layman together pulling this wagon from the mire, it can be done."

"The campaign requires three things, first, 4,000 churches; and we have them; second, 4,000 ministers; and we have them; and third, $15,000,000 and we'll have that."

Contributing liberally once, we shall never be asked to contribute again for it will be an investment and from then on self-supporting," he said. He cited as an example the recent successful campaign of the national Episcopal Church, which was triumphant beyond all expectation, he said.

"An investment and a sound one is

GREENWOOD IS STRESSING ITS SUNDAY SERVICE

Combined Program Planned at Church in Charge of Columbus Minister

Special stress is being laid on Sunday services at Greenwood Evangelical Church, Greenwood and Market, in connection with the revival now in progress at the church, according to announcement made today by Rev. Irvin Kaufman, pastor.

A combined service of the Sunday School and church departments will be held at 9 o'clock Sunday morning at the church, at which time, Rev. R. A. Sain of Columbus, who is conducting the revival, will preach on the subject, "The Ideal Church."

A service especially arranged for men will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Reverend Sain's sermon topic will be, "Keep At It." At 7 o'clock Sunday night, Reverend Sain will preach on the subject, "Consecration," while his sermon tonight will deal with "Baptism of the Holy Spirit," special music has been arranged for each service.

"Anniversary Sunday" will be observed Feb. 20, at which time the church will have reached the age of 13 years. "Dedication Day" in the Sunday school Feb. 27, will be observed with a second joint service and the celebration of the Lord's Supper.

"A Revival in the Church" was the subject of Reverend Sain's sermon at the church last night. His text was taken from Psalm 51, verse 6, "Will Thou not revive us again?"

"God alone can send a revival," Reverend Sain said. "All true revivals emanate from His holy spirit. A revival from another source, by another means, is always a failure." He emphasized that a revival must begin in the individual and spread to the church as a whole and complete surrender to God. Mrs. N. H. Weaver directed the choir in the singing of a special number, "Can the World See Jesus?"

PLAN SERVICES
It was planned to conduct Sunday night services at First Reformed Church Feb. 27, at a meeting of members of the Young People's Society last night at the church. It was also decided to hold a penny social at the church Feb. 24. Miss Lucille Schindler was in charge of refreshments served during a social hour.

ROOF DAMAGED

Civilian Government for Islands Planned by Bill

Outgrowth of Suggestions Made by Carmi Thompson After Investigation

By CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—With all due respect toward the army and navy, there is a growing feeling in a director, reporting directly to the not generally fit a man for direction of the destinies of a civilian population in peace time.

This thought is back of Senator Willis' bill to take the Philippines and Porto Rico from the war department's administration, to re-institute the naval government of the Virgin Islands, Samoa and Guam, and to place them all under Carmi Thompson, der control of a Washington "insular office," headed by a director, reporting directly to the president, not actually referred to in the bill as of cabinet rank, but really corresponding to England's colonial minister.

The plan is an outgrowth of suggestions by Carmi Thompson, who recently investigated the Philippines, as President Coolidge's personal representative, and found conditions pretty good, but not quite so good that he didn't believe they could be somewhat improved.

THERE had been a good many complaints concerning the Philippines. Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood was beginning to need a clean bill of health, not as to the honesty of his intentions but as to his competency.

The general impression in Washington was that Carmi Thompson was sent to the islands to find that the adverse criticisms were all nonsense, that Wood was an ideal governor general, that the Filipinos weren't ripe for independence and that the archipelago was a perfectly safe place for American rubber growers to invest money, in full security that their investments would remain under the American flag.

Carmi did it, in substance, but he did it with a qualifying clause.

EVERYTHING was lovely, he said. The islands weren't fit for self government. There were no signs of self-governance could ask.

But wasn't it a pity that the government-general could have only army men for advisors—nice men, but so unfamiliar with the problems of civil life.

Coming from Carmi Thompson, whose business most emphatically was to find everything all right if he could, this mild censure had all the effect of a loud yell of remonstrance.

Carmi's hint made him none too popular in army circles.

Nevertheless it was followed by preparation of the Willis bill. It there is a "regular" in Washington it's Willis of Ohio, chairman of the senate territories committee. When he introduces a bill, it means it has mighty solid support.

And Willis' bill not only takes in the Philippines; it takes in all America's overseas possessions, too. It aims to do a thorough job.

THE kicking in Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Samoa and Guam has not been on as large a scale as the Philippines. Their populations are relatively small. Still, they have kicked.

Guam, for instance, has complained bitterly of the taxes imposed on it by one of its civil governors prohibiting whaling, it fretted him, so he banned it, by law.

The Virgin Islands complain that rum prohibition, their chief industry under Spanish rule, is outlawed by Volsteadism, to their ruin.

Willis, while recognizing the excellence of army and navy governors' intentions as far away islands' care, holds that civilian government understands better what's what in ordinary everyday intercourse and trade.

TWO BOYS ARE SENTENCED TO REFORMATORY

George Kesselring and Albert Simpkins Draw Indeterminate Terms; Court News

Sentence in the Marion reformatory were given George R. Kesselring and Albert Simpkins, Marion youths who pleaded guilty to charges on which they were indicted by the grand jury when they faced Judge George B. Scofield in Common Pleas Court this morning.

The sentence are indeterminate, their conduct at the reformatory determining the length of their terms.

Albert Simpkins was sentenced first. Before sentence was passed Judge Scofield asked City Solicitor George Gernan what the result of his investigation into the case was. Gernan told him Simpkins came forward shortly after the arrest of George Long, and by giving information which connected him with the holdup of the Walter grocery, cleared Long, who had been charged with the crime. Gernan said that that act showed that there was considerable good in the boy, and that he came of good family, and was a friendly fellow. Prosecutor Frank Wiedemann said that Gernan had covered the case completely and that he had nothing to add.

Scofield Talks
"This is one of the unpleasant tasks of a judge," Judge Scofield said just before sentencing Simpkins. "I am not going to lecture you, Mr. Gernan has told you what you are going to do. I am not going to tell you, and that is so much in your favor. There is nothing to be done for me, however. I am going to send you to the Marion reformatory."

"How long you stay in the reformatory depends on your conduct there. But one thing I want to tell you, and that is when you get out of the penitentiary you ought to come back to Marion, where people know you, to start in again. Some men think they get away from Marion, and then they come back and go away to some place where they do not know anyone. But this country of ours is the smallest place in the world. Someone you will meet somebody from Marion who knows you and then there will be whispers about you that will blacken your name."

"Come back to Marion when you finish your term in the penitentiary, and start in again among the folks you know. I do not want you to go to Marion, but I do want you to be a good man. There are men in Marion who will help you overcome the same obstacles you will have."

"I sentence you to an indeterminate term in the Marion reformatory," Judge Scofield concluded.

George R. Kesselring was called next, and Prosecutor Frank Wiedemann said that the youth had been straightforward about his connection with the robbery in Green Camp last week, for which he was indicted, when asked by the charge. "At least," said Wiedemann, "he did not add perjury and lies to his other violations of the law."

Judge Scofield talked briefly to Kesselring in the same vein as he had to Simpkins. Neither of the boys had anything to say when asked before being sentenced. Kesselring thanked the judge before he returned to his seat.

The hearing of Arthur Erwin, who pleaded guilty to the indictment, was set for Feb. 10, by Judge Scofield. This morning, this will be the first case of the 15 boys taken into custody on various charges in the juvenile crime wave, to come to trial. John, the brother of Arthur Erwin, will be given a hearing after his brother's trial is completed. The date for the other trial has not been set.

County Officials Turn Sleuths in Hope of Nabbing Villain Who Made Off With Hole in Center-st Walk

MARION police and Sheriff James Deal have another mystery to work on.

Some one has stolen a hole in the sidewalk on the Center-st side of the courthouse. This hole is of more than casual importance. Just what the results will be if the hole is not located soon, no one will predict.

Officials point out that the hole must have been stolen. It could not have been laid or lost, because it was a very special kind of hole, in fact a sort of aristocrat as holes go.

This fact has discounted the first theory that the hole got mixed up with other holes. Center-st. is a busy thoroughfare, and the hole was of E. Center-st. parentage, and it would not mix with the common or garden variety of holes to be found in such profusion on W. Center-st. It is claimed on good authority that an E. Center-st. hole would have something to do with a W. Center-st. hole, because holes on W. Center-st. are so common that merchants along that thoroughfare claim it is practically impossible to tell where one hole begins and another ends.

The hole was discovered this morning when John Halim and Sherman Dixon, courthouse custodians, put out the courthouse flag along the curb, in honor of Lincoln. Starting at the Center and Main-st. corner they placed the flag along Center-st. Two flags fitted neatly into their proper places, but when they reached the place where the third socket used to be there was no hole there. Perplexed they searched the vicinity but were unable to locate any opening or even so much as a crack in the sidewalk. They informed the sheriff of their discovery. At a late hour, after county officials had conferred at some length the mystery had not been solved. County Commissioner Wesley King was the only county official to voice an opinion. He gave as his opinion that the hole got tired of being full of snow and ice and grew shut during the winter. Another man, who refused to allow his name to be used, said it was his opinion that the roots of one of the trees on the courthouse square had grown around the hole, strangled it, and dragged it beneath the surface. This was thought by others to be improbable. The county has suffered no inconvenience by the loss of the hole, other than the breaking up of the decorative scheme of the flags, for where the third flag, counting from Main-st., used to stand on festive occasions calling for flag display, is now nothing but a large blank.

LIQUOR FOUND HERE REMAINS IN COUNTY JAIL

Efforts May Be Made To Turn Entire Lot Over to Hospital

Marion County's $3,000 stock of high-grade liquor, acquired as the result of an illicit shipment of whiskey and champagne having been confiscated at the Erie freight transfer house this week, is still in safe-keeping at the county jail and will remain there until Sheriff Deal receives official instructions on methods of procedure.

The liquor, enclosed in four large boxes which had been labelled "fruit," was discovered when one of the boxes sprung a leak at the freight transfer house, Wednesday. Erie officials instructed their local employees to turn the beverage over to county authorities.

Tell Federal Men

Federal authorities have been notified and one of their representatives is expected here soon to start an investigation. It is not likely that Sheriff Deal will take any further steps in the matter until the federal man arrives.

Information regarding the source of the shipment and the place to which it was addressed is still held secret by local officials. The details will not be made public until efforts to find persons responsible for the shipment have come to some definite conclusion.

Disposition Question

Just what will be done with the liquor is also a question upon which no decision has been reached. The whiskey and champagne are both high standard goods, suitable for medical use. It is stated, and an effort may be made to turn the entire lot over to some hospital. If this can not be done legally, it will be necessary to destroy the beverage.

Army authorities declared today that the identification was positive. The prisoner is being held incommunicado.

LINCOLN'S SPIRIT OVER WASHINGTON

Washington, Feb. 12—"The spirit of Abraham Lincoln" still hovers over the capital and the Republic for which he gave his last full measure of devotion.

This message was the burden of the eulogy read to the senate this afternoon by Senator Reed Smoot, Republican, of Utah, in commemoration of the 110th birthday anniversary of the "Martyred Philosopher."

Tracing Lincoln's political career, Smoot declared that he was "a man of the people" and that his political philosophy have been followed since the day he entered congress 50 years ago last February.

and not alone for the "big five" powers of the Washington Conference.

With these statements as basis of the reply, the document will set forth other French views which indicate very clearly that France can not accept the American proposals.

Cabinet Meeting Looms

In political circles here considerable emphasis was laid on the fact that France wants the problem of disarmament submitted to all world powers, and not to the "big five" alone. It is generally agreed that France could control a majority of the smaller nations in their stand on disarmament, which she could probably not prevail in a conference of the "big five."

The cabinet meeting was prolonged and rather a lively one, it is understood, although there was a general unanimity regarding the proposals of President Coolidge there was some difference of opinions as to how far France should go in rejecting them.

Minister of Interior Sarraut, leaving the cabinet meeting, was apparently impatient. When asked as to the discussions and the cabinet attitude towards the American proposals, he snapped: "We can't agree to surrender our last means of defense."

JAPAN TO ACCEPT PLAN OF COOLIDGE

Tokio, Feb. 12—Japan will accept President Coolidge's proposal for a real naval disarmament conference at Geneva in principle, leaving the experts to attend to the details, the foreign office stated today.

The cabinet will meet Tuesday to consider a reply which will likely be made next week.

The foreign office declared that Japan will propose no reservations. Kantaro Suzuki, chief of the naval board, admitted today that he is doubtful if an agreement on the questions involved is possible but declared Japan must accept and make a sincere effort to achieve success of the undertaking.

The newspaper generally welcome the proposal although some question the sincerity of President Coolidge, attributing his proposal to the domestic situation in the United States.

Several papers attack the 5-5-3 ratio, saying changed conditions in the Pacific should alter Japan's attitude. Admiral Takeshi Takarabe, minister of the navy, warned that care must be taken in such a new conference that good done at the first Washington Disarmament Conference should not be undone.

The battle around Hangchow, which resulted yesterday in the Cantonese being driven back to the mountains, was described in messages from the front today as the most sanguinary of the present Chinese revolution.

Thousands were reported killed and wounded. The Northern troops, 100,000 strong, were matched against but half that number of Cantonese, but the latter were better equipped and offered vigorous resistance. There was much hand to hand fighting, in which both sides suffered heavy casualties.

Retreating Movement

The Cantonese were forced to retreat when General Wu Peifu, commanding the fifth division of Sun Chuan-fang's army ordered the execution of a big encircling movement, in which the Sun commander gained his objective of compelling the southerners to withdraw to the hills. There they took up strong positions, which Sun Chuan-fang today still was attacking.

The second battalion of the Gloucester regiment, comprising 700 men and 20 officers, arrived here today from Bombay aboard the steamship Vesta. A detachment of the Durham regiment also arrived on the steamer Taklim, and both battalions are expected to be landed on Monday.

When Jefferson Outsmarted Washington—Will Rogers

George Took Measure of Britishers

uts His Initials on Natural Bridge; Tom Wrote Name on Deed

BY WILL ROGERS

TODAY you all are going to get a little history. We have just been fed up on Spoiled Peaches, Uncle Daddys, Aimees, Nicaraguas, and China, Prohibition, Smith's dances for the nomination and will again go to the post in 28. We hear these things all the time. What me and my little band of readers got to do is to get out and learn something. Now what can be better to learn about than the world's greatest natural wonder? There is supposed to be seven great natural wonders of the world, and the Natural Bridge in Virginia is one of them. Did you ever see it? No! If it had been in Europe you would have traveled across half a dozen little B Flat countries and put up with all kinds of in-convenience, bum hotels, poor roads, feel like a bunch of sheep while being ordered around looking at it, tipped everybody from the king of the Country in its down to the fellow that told you here it was. Americans go prowling around over in Europe looking for old things. Well this Bridge is not just a thing, it is a thing that is so recent. It goes back as far as George Washington's time, and that is as far as an American ought to care to go.

George A. Surrogate
George was a Surrogate in his younger days. That's where the Apple tree or people Sauce story started. Surrogate ways carry hatchets to drive their axes, and that is how he came to have Tomahawk in his possession when approached by his father. He was a good Surrogate. He took the exact measure of the British, and surveyed himself out about the most valuable piece of land in America at that time, Mount Vernon. George not only could tell the truth but he could tell land values, all this Natural Bridge it seems that George found it. I don't hardly know how he could miss it, for it's the only as you can get from one end of Virginia to the other, is to pass over it. All you can pass over it and never know it. That's what the British had been doing for years. Of course the British hadn't noticed it. They didn't think there was any Bridge but London Bridge. They couldn't possibly see it, but they could have one. But a man who was to become the Father of his Country was not only a prolific writer but he was some Bridge discoverer. He knew a Bridge when he sawed one.

Carved Initials
Well, he went down right away and climbed up the side and put his initials there. That was not as some think it to perpetuate his initials. It was to be his brand, and it was to claim ownership of the bridge. He was for claiming it and putting a Toll House on top of it, and draw people's attention that there was a bridge there. George was not only a Soldier and a Gentleman, but he was a Business man. Now if George did put his initials where they are on that bridge now I want to be the first one to claim for him in history that he was also an Acrobat. Either that or a second story man. But George didn't get the Bridge. King George III of England had foolishly taken in too much territory with some of his barn-storming English settlers. King George tried to bribe Thomas Jefferson with the Bridge. He figured Jefferson is a Democrat and this Bridge is south of the Mason and Dixon line, and in order to swing the Democratic vote over to me, King George, I better get to this fellow Jefferson.

Just Like A King!
Shows you how little those kings know. He should have seen that Washington was the fellow he had to lick. If he had given the Bridge to Washington, why Washington might have let him keep the rest of the Country. Cause George was just crazy about Bridges, and when he couldn't find one, he would have his picture taken crowning in a boat. This deed that King George gave to Jefferson was dated on July 5th, 1774, and called for 157 acres worth of Bridge. July the fifth; that was the next day after the fourth of July, Jefferson was just coming home from the Fourth of July celebration at Benning and going back to Lexington when the King sent him the deed. History of no kind ever tells that Jefferson ever paid for it, so it looks like there was a little undercover stuff pulled somewhere. It's funny they went and sent Smith and Vane, and they go ahead and let Jefferson in. This Jefferson seemed to be the only Democrat in history with any kind of business ability. Even Washington, the Republican didn't have much on Thomas in grabbing of choice lots and Villa plots. He grabbed him off a knole overlooking Washington that had

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

"You think of the pain and suffering you cause," I cried, compelled against my will to take him seriously and catching at the first and most obvious rejoinder that occurred to me. "Do you pretend that the people in this house are happy? You have poisoned them with your vile drugs and shortened their lives by years and years."

"Short life and merry one," an English poet says, he replied quietly. "It is better to live few happy hours and not long continue in economically insufficient world. Persons gods love die young, as ancient says. I give short felicity and peace in this world and leave next world to other prophets."

He ceased and looked at me quietly, obviously waiting for some comment. I could at first find no words, however, but sat there without the least idea how to meet him. I feared his mockery. If I should take him as a serious philosopher, and I did not feel that he was merely pulling my leg. I suspect, on reflection, that like so many human attitudes, this of the Center was partly honest and partly feigning. He was possibly half in jest, half in earnest, poking fun at himself in order to justify his poking fun at the world—a practice not uncommon among clever people. Very probably he had already persuaded himself, or almost persuaded himself, that he was genuinely inspired. One thing at least was sincere—his conception of mankind as no more than a vile body for fantastic excitement or the achievement of his own selfish purposes.

"Well, Mr. Querter," he said at last. "What you thinking with so earnest expression?"

"I think, Mr. Querter," I said bluntly, "that you are much too clever really to believe in all that absurd nonsense. 'Yes?' he mused, as though considering the matter. 'You think me only a criminal but bungler. That characteristic European view of prophet. You think me very beretic. In old days Western peoples hang up heretic or most him in marketplace. Modern peoples find better way. They laugh at heretic, buy his books, talk of him at dinner table, call him crank and funny man. You think I speak funny nonsense, but I have many thousand followers all over civilized globe, and they pay tribute in hard coin of realm. Christian churches collect many silver pieces on Sunday. My church collect many millions of gold dollars every day."

"In other words, Mr. Querter, you and your associates are making a fortune by flooding the world with poison."

"The Center shook his head with a wistful patience. 'I already explain to you, Mr. Querter, I don't regard it as poison but as great pain buster, white lightning for fortune tellers, or if you prefer discredited Western metaphor—water of life.'"

"And what of the police," I asked, "and the customs officials in every country? They are all out to stop you and to destroy this iniquitous traffic. Look at the work which the League of Nations is doing. The countries of the world are banded against you. Even America, which is outside the League, is co-operating with it in this matter. How can you hope to prevail?"

"That all according to best European tradition," he replied, displaying his teeth in the usual smile. "Officials and government always against untested prophet. But it makes no difference at all."

He lifted a paper from the desk in front of him. "I have here," he said, "names of persons devoted to service of organization in France. I had 91,702 persons taking drugs across frontiers for distribution in most enlightened countries. Persons inside far more numerous."

"Do you mean to tell me," I said, "that there are over ninety thousand people smuggling dangerous drugs into France under your direction?"

"Yes, that is so, Mr. Querter. They bring drugs from Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and many other countries under cover of policemen and government. Very simple business. Happiness-carrying drug very small. Very easy carry concealed. Hide in all kinds of ways in tires of automobiles, in soap boxes, in parcels of rubber in sponges, nails, textile materials. That, of

SMART WOOL COAT FOR MILADY'S HUNT

SINCE the time of the goddess Diana hunting has been an occasional sport of society and has attracted themselves variously thereto. The latest hunting costume for milady is pictured here. It is made of mixed grey and green wool and consists of a square cut coat with novel pocket treatment, and a skirt that buttons on the side and may be worn either closed or partly open. Knickerbockers and tailored shirt are part of the suit, also high boots.

STYLE WHIMSIES
Petticoats are in demand again. The popular variety is made of heavy quality crepe de chine or radium and is fitted around the waist. Elaborate trimmings of lace are used around the hem.

Dresses made of flowers of blending shades of mauve, pink and purple with black centers are being played on evening dresses by English dressmakers. A "marie tall" of pleated tulle which is half way between a mesh and a train falls from beneath the flowers, and extends just below the bottom of the dress.

While the slender silhouette is emphasized in all the showings of new frocks, it must not be supposed that this means that the dresses lack fullness. Pleats are used extensively and width is also achieved by means of overlapping panel arrangements and tullelike sections that often drop longer than the skirt.

Embroidered peasant sleeves in a plain dress give it life and a smart air.

Stretched pleats are being used both in separate coats, and those that are part of an ensemble. The stitching and the use of belts preserves the necessary straight line, however.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

SETTING THE STAGE

"BUT do you suppose Mrs. Baker will be willing to come down to Katherine's room?" I asked when Lillian was outlining her scheme for staging my denunciatory interview with the queer bodger from the fourth floor.

"Ordinarily, no," my friend answered, "but this time we've got her going and coming. It's a put Mary up to this appeal to you, she'll be Johnny on the spot. On the other hand, if the girl's apier was no the square, we'll get her by the simple expedient of sending Mary after her. She won't want to risk her influence over Mary by refusing her request."

I put my hand upward in a military salute. "You've thought of every possible angle," I said admiringly. She made a curious little grimace familiar to me as her way of winking off a compliment.

"All right, the bouquets are now in the vases," she said brusquely, "and we don't need to worry about this business any more. In fact it would be a great deal better if you didn't rehearse over to yourself the thousand and lightening you're going to unload upon Mrs. Baker's head. It will be all the better if impromptu, and you sure can trust your memory for the things Mary told you."

In the end I listened to him in silence, ceasing to follow his arguments and beginning to think again of my personal situation. His frank confession of faith and the reckless way in which he revealed the details of his opinions indicated beyond all dispute that he really was a quite definitely harmless and harmless. Did the Center regard me for all practical purposes as having already ceased to exist. Or was he perhaps hoping to convert me?

RED AND GOLD SMART

HOLLYWOOD COMING

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 10.—Red and gold is considered one of the smartest combinations of colors in Hollywood. Aileen Pringle, film star, has opened the mid-winter fashion season by wearing this combination at evening functions as well as on the street.

"These colors are rich and elegant," Miss Pringle says. "One evening gown of mine is of gold cloth trimmed with broad bands of red velvet ribbon."

But the novel combination is not limited to evening gowns. I also have in my wardrobe a dark red velvet street frock heavily trimmed with gold braid.

The hat worn with this is also of gold.

Miss Pringle is considered one of the best dressed women of the screen.

Predict Farm Bill Passage by House Early in Week

SENATE GIVES ITS APPROVAL BY 47-39 VOTE

Measure Likely To Be in Hands of Coolidge by Tuesday or Wednesday

Washington, Feb. 12.—The $250,000, McNary-Haugen farm relief bill passed steadily toward passage in the house today with indications that it would be delivered into the hands of President Coolidge for signature or veto by the middle of next week.

Passage of the bill in the house today was predicted by a majority of 40 to 30. The senate's action, in passing the bill by a 47-39 vote late yesterday, was counted on to show a dozen wavering votes to the affirmative side.

With opponents admitting that under there is a decided change in the situation they will be defeated, congressional leaders turned vainly to the White House for some sign of what President Coolidge intends to do with the bill. Farm bloc leaders continued to predict that Mr. Coolidge will let the measure become a law, while critics of the last few days have caused most administration supporters to assert that a veto is certain.

May Apply Veto
A report was circulated that the president had decided to apply the veto because the bill stipulates he must choose members of the proposed farm board from a list of nominees submitted by farm organizations. This, it is said, Mr. Coolidge will declare unconstitutional as an invasion of executive powers. He would ignore other provisions of the bill, according to the report.

The senate completely reversed its vote of a year ago when it rejected the McNary-Haugen bill in somewhat different form. The house has twice defeated the bill, by approximate majorities of 60 and 40 votes.

House sponsors of the bill were studying the senate's amendments today to determine their course of procedure. To speed up action on the bill, it was indicated that the senate bill would be substituted in the lower body.

Bill Strengthened
Senate amendments, it was said, had strengthened the bill from a vote-getting standpoint. The addition of tobacco to the basic crops which would be subject to the operation of the law is expected to add several votes. Other changes included a grant to insure farmers against loss through price fluctuations, a measure designed especially to meet demands of cotton growers. State agriculture departments also would be given power in the designation of nominees for the board. Another amendment would prohibit the board from beginning operations to control any commodity until a majority of the producers requested it.

NON-POISONOUS ALCOHOL IS VIRTUALLY ASSURED

Alcohol Denaturant Approved by Carnegie Technical Institute Expert

Washington, Feb. 12.—Non-poisonous denatured alcohol virtually was assured by the treasury today.

Government formulas providing for denaturing by the addition of alcohol and four per cent wood alcohol will go on the market shortly after April 1, but chemists believe that during the year a big per cent or all of the wood alcohol may be eliminated.

"If the new formula is a success, as is anticipated, it may be modified through a reduction of the wood alcohol content," Dr. J. H. Doran, prohibition chemist, said.

"Alcohol, approved as a denaturant by Dr. Joseph James, of Carnegie Technical Institute, is the element in the new formula which prevents industrial alcohol from being used for beverage purposes."

"The wood alcohol is employed exclusively to prevent removal of alcohol, through redistillation, boiling or other processes."

If the present treasury policy is carried out the wood alcohol content will be cut down gradually, to determine whether or not alcohol will stand by itself as a denaturant. Investigations thus far completed indicate that the wood alcohol may be removed without reducing the value of the alcohol denaturant.

Marion Youth is Chosen as Guest Soloist for European Tour of Wesleyan Glee Club

Benjamin K. Gilmore, 19, of 101 Walnut-st., Tenor, Selected After Tryout Before Director of Music at University; Eight Weeks Trip Planned

Benjamin K. Gilmore, 19, of 101 W. Walnut-st., has been selected as guest soloist to accompany the Ohio Wesleyan University Glee Club on its European tour of eight weeks which will start on June 15.

This unusual recognition of the Marion boy's talent as a singer came as the result of a try-out last Sunday at Delaware before Guy McLean, director of music at O. W. U. It was announced today. After hearing young Gilmore sing two numbers, "Mother Machree" and "You'll Remember Me," Mr. McLean immediately decided to choose him for guest soloist.

Chosen at Once
This prompt decision on the part of the director is regarded as a special mark of distinction for the Marion boy, as singers for tours as important as the one to be made by the O. W. U. club are usually not chosen until a week or more after try-outs.

The fact that Gilmore will be the only singer aside from O. W. U. students appearing in the European concert indicates that he is the recipient of an unusual honor. There will be about 30 young men in the touring party, which will be under the direction of Mr. McLean.

To Sail June 15
The club will go from Delaware to Montreal and sail for Europe on June 15. The itinerary will include Paris, London, Berlin and three cities in Belgium.

In the meantime, Gilmore will attend rehearsals at Delaware twice each week during the remainder of the school year.

This young Marion singer has a tenor voice of exceptional volume and quality which has caused local music experts to forecast for him a future of unusual promise. His talent has become known to Marion people during the last three years, in which time he has been singing with the Harding High School Glee Club, the Canto Club and the Epworth Methodist Choir. He is a member of the Senior class at Harding High.

He is the son of Mrs. Blanche Stansell of 101 W. Walnut-st.

SKULLS OF FOUR WOMEN FOUND IN OLD HOUSE

Illinois Authorities Institute Search for War Veteran, Former Occupant

Royal Oak, Mich., Feb. 12.—With the discovery of an abandoned trunk in a house in Royal Oak Township, contained the skulls of four women and a brand of blonde hair clothed with blood, Oakland County deputy sheriffs today began a nationwide search for the former occupant of the cottage, believed to be the owner of the trunk.

With the skulls were found several clippings from Pittsburgh newspapers referring to women prominent in society there, all of which had telephone numbers pencilled upon them. A note book also found in the trunk contained the names of several Detroit and Cleveland women and their addresses. The word "white" had been written in pencil after several of them.

The names of these women were given as Mrs. Joseph Scribner, Mrs. A. B. Frampton, Mrs. Arthur Little and Mrs. W. P. Withrow. The date "Mar. 5, 1925" was written on the clipping.

Whereabouts Unknown
Investigators are convinced that the trunk is the property of James H. Coyner, negro World War veteran who gave up the house about two years ago after a residence of four years. An army uniform bearing an engineer's insignia and service stripes was found in the trunk and had been identified as Coyner's. The man was a member of Company D, 510th Engineers of the A. E. F. It was said. Other papers found included several letters addressed to Coyner and an income tax declaration.

Coyner, a mechanic, was employed at the Ford Motor Co. during his occupancy of the house, police were told. Where he went after leaving Royal Oak Township or the cause of his leaving, is not known.

The gruesome find was made by children of George Wilson who recently moved into the house. Finding the trunk Wilson reported to his landlord to have it removed. When it was opened and its gruesome contents revealed Ferndale police were requested to take possession of it.

Work on Two Theories
Police are working on two theories. They believe the skulls were removed from graves in the vicinity of Ferndale or that the women were murdered and their skulls secreted in the trunk. Inquiries have been started to learn if ghoulies have molested any graves in any neighborhood cemeteries.

Mrs. Sally Smith, owner of the house told police that she believed Coyner was now serving a sentence in an Illinois penitentiary.

The Wilson family has occupied the house which is located in an isolated section of the township for about a year.

HART DIVORCED

Wife Gets Decree and May Return to Work in Pictures

Reno, Nevada, Feb. 12.—While declining to disclose her plans, it was understood that Winifred Westover Hart, who departed for Los Angeles today after obtaining a divorce from William Surrey Hart, two-gun hero of the movies, plans to return to film work.

Mrs. Hart, who won a decree on grounds of desertion, was awarded the custody of 5-year-old William Hart, Jr., who was with his mother in court, wearing a wide-brimmed sombrero, resembling the hats worn by his father in his famous western characters.

In view of the fact that Hart, at the time of the separation, provided trust funds of $100,000 each for his wife and son, no mention was made of property settlement in connection with the divorce.

Mrs. Hart came here more than a year ago and had lived with her mother and son in close seclusion, denying consistently that a divorce was in the offing.

Smith, director of WLW, Cincinnati, recently wrote to a number of editors of leading newspapers asking for a flood of answers that indicate intelligent observation on programs as well as suggested changes.

La Mertha, radio editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, found that the ten of the stations today is to run the same things over and over.

La Mertha also predicted that radio will make great strides toward the development of a typical American music. He expressed preference for the Kipling numbers, "The Victorious Return" from Aida and Liuzi's Second Hungarian Rhapsody among classical numbers.

M. M. Carothers, radio editor of a Columbus newspaper, built his letter around a deep and soulful protest against vocal soloists.

His taste inclines towards the classical, with Chopin's "Marche Funebre," Schubert's Serenade and "The Victorious Return" from "Aida" among the leaders.

SEES RADIO BOON TO SINGERS

MARY LEWIS

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Mary Lewis, Metropolitan Opera soprano, attributes a large portion of her success to radio, since it has brought her before the public more quickly and effectively than could have been accomplished in any other manner.

"I think radio never will eliminate the concert," says Miss Lewis. "In the final analysis, personality is the thing that counts, and personality can best be felt and 'golden over' when a person stands in the flesh before an audience."

"However, I do believe that the far-reaching effect of radio on the musical life of the country is just beginning to exert itself. The success of the opera singer depends upon a combination of appearance, voice and histrionic ability. Over the radio appearance is nothing."

and the result will be the development of a group of famous radio artists to whom success was denied in opera, long the gateway to a concert career.

"We are now seeing the early development of chain broadcasting, which I believe will increase steadily, making for fewer and better radio artists, with voice paramount. These artists will acquire a vogue hitherto unknown. The popularity over the radio will result in largely increased concert earnings. The concert, however, will remain as the real test of a singer's success, whether attained by way of opera or the radio."

No word has yet been received here about the possible wage increase for Erie firemen and engineers. It was reported today. The Watson-Parker bill, providing for the increase on many eastern railroads, was passed a few days ago.

According to many newspaper reports, the bill affected the Erie Railroad, engineers and firemen of the road being given a seven and a half percent raise. A PERPETUAL challenge cup in memory of William A. Larned, across three national tennis championships and intercollegiate titles, at Cornell in 1892, has been donated as a trophy in the Cornell indoor intercollegiate tennis tournament, opening at Ithaca, Feb. 11.

The silver cup, standing nineteen inches high and bearing Larned's record as one of the greatest of all American tennis players, was donated by a group of prominent tennis figures, including Julian S. Myrick, former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, George T. Adee and Watson Washburn. The name of the singles winner will be engraved on the trophy and replicas awarded him and the runner-up.

By deciding to continue active in baseball, T. Cobb this year will automatically add another to his long string of records. The 1937 season will be his 25th consecutive year as player in the major leagues, thus tying the record of 25 straight established by the late Adrian C. Anson.

TEN years ago today, Feb. 12, 1917, Jack Dempsey was knocked out in one round at Salt Lake City by Philman Jim Flynn. One year previous, on Feb. 12, 1916, Sam Langford, the "Boston Tar Baby" hung a K. O. on the chin of Harry Wills, the "Black Panther" in the 10th round, at New Orleans.

The United States Lawn Tennis Association established the national public parks championship in 1923. For several years prior to that time a tournament was held by the National Municipal Recreation Federation, which is now out of existence.

HARVARD has had two nine-letter athletes—George Owen and Jack Hammond. Owen is still active in the sport which he loves, but of all-time—Hammond has quit competitive sports to plunge into a business career, and during the next 13 months will be located in Pittsburgh. He has joined a Mellon company, the Aluminum Company of America, and Bostonians who visit Pittsburgh may be able to see Hammond in overall—if they arise early enough. With some dozen other college boys from various parts of the country, Hammond is leaving the business from the ground up and he and the other collegians will be quartered together, first near the factory, some 20 miles from the city, and later in Pittsburgh proper.

Joe Boyer, a "wild brother" of Irving Berlin, formerly with the Glenn Miller band, will be given a trial by Manager McGraw this spring. Joe pitched complete ball with a team in New Jersey last season and is said to have displayed considerable class as a mound artist.

As a protest against Mrs. Lenglen's decision to become a professional, French women tennis players of the Riviera have discarded the band they wore about their hair after the manner of the famous champion. Instead of the ribbon they now wear a dark blue beret. Some American women are adopting the cap, but English women still are clinging to the egg shade, which Helen Wills made famous.

The Gulf Coast Baseball League, a Class D organization, launched last year, has changed its name to the Texas Valley League and will start its second season with a circuit of six clubs in southern Texas towns.

THE National League has not only endorsed Commissioner Landis' recommendations designed to curb betting on ball games by players, but went a step further by recommending an increase of from one to three years' ineligibility for "gifts" to members of another club.

The league joined with the American League club owners in applying the 1937 schedule, opening April 12 and closing October 2.

Frank J. Navin, who is acting president of the American League, has large financial interests in his home city of Detroit and is generally considered to be one of the wealthiest men in baseball.

Albion, a more commonly known as police dogs, came originally from the Ardennes district of Luxembourg, where the country people crowded dogs with wolves in order to get protection for their farms.

Ashland Cagers Crush Harding High Five, 35-9

Riley and Miller Score
All But Three of Points
Made by Visiting Quintet

Harding Isn't Even in Show When High Scorers of North Central Ohio League Step into Action on Star Auditorium Court; Fourth League Defeat of Season

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB

Sports Editor, The Star

BOB RILEY and Ray Miller of Ashland, forward and center on the Ashland high school basketball team, ably assisted by three other lads with extraordinary ability, last night trampled Harding High under the overwhelming score of 35 to 9 in the Star auditorium.

Riley and Miller, high scorers in the North Central Ohio League, together made all but three of the 35 points scored by their team. Riley caged six field goals and three free throws for 15 markers, and Miller went him two better by connecting for eight field goals and only one charity counter.

Harding High wasn't even in the show. The local boys didn't get a chance at a success shot in the first quarter but managed to get a couple of free throws out of four or five attempts. When the quarter ended they were trailing 8 to 2. Ashland had made seven points before Garrett, finally connected for Harding's two markers late in the first period.

Second Quarter
The Marionites had a couple of chances directly under the basket in the second quarter and should have had four points out of the attempts but the old-time netballers did it tight. On the other hand, they dropped "on" as easily and as concerned as ever. The half ended with Harding still field-goalless and Ashland leading 10 to 3. Gillis made Harding's lone counter in the second period.

Five minutes after the second half got under way, Gillis scored the first field goal of the night for Harding. It was a pretty shot from near the foul line and added two points to the Marionites' limited mount. But that's all. No more were forthcoming until late in the fourth quarter when Garrett caged one and Cline, sub for Evans, was credited with two points.

Cline Plays Well
In fact, Cline, who was placed in the game during the last three minutes, played the smoothest and coolest of any Harding lad on the floor during the night. He was sure of himself, he kept his head, and he made a bucket within three minutes. No other player on the Marion team could claim that record last night.

Miller and Riley continued the rampage in the last half. They alternated in playing under the hoop. Their successful shots also were alternated until in the first minutes of the fourth quarter, when Miller spurted ahead with three consecutive field goals and free throws. He was taken from the skirmish by Coach Harbard during the last five minutes. Miller played the whole game.

Ashland Host Here
The Ashland team was the best seen in action against Harding High this year, at home or abroad. Delaware looked good when playing here but Ashland was much better. Clever pass work and accurate shooting by the crew featured the lopsided skirmish. The visitors' defense also was impotent during the first half.

Harding High cagers were lost. Finally, in the third and final quarters they became rather disgusted and discouraged with the world in general, and simply "broke" before that it was "worse", after, and had Coach Compton left the boys in the game. It would have probably approached the "worse" degree, but he slipped the second stringers into action during the last moments.

McAulish, Harding forward, was eliminated from the contest late in the first half on four personal fouls. The loss did not greatly affect the team as a whole. "Mac" looked like he had an "off" night, anyway.

Fourth Defeat
It was Harding High's fourth N. C. O. League defeat of the season. Ashland's fourth win, Ashland was defeated at Mansfield last week in an overtime game but local fans who saw the Mansfield-Harding contest cannot yet understand how the Richland County boys trimmed the Ashland crew. It seems to be the popular opinion of Marion fans that Ashland is the best North Central Ohio League quintet now playing, regardless of the Mansfield defeat.

One other man deserves creditable mention. Fouts, Ashland right guard, was a wonder. He passed the ball with greater accuracy than any other guard seen here this season. He made no points but he didn't have to. The center and forward took care of that end of it.

GREEN CAMP AND CALEDONIA WIN

BIG BLUE FIVE
CINCHES TITLE
IN WEST LEAGUE

Doubles Score on Prospect in Last Quarter; Final Count, 32-16

Bombarding the Prospect goal with a barrage of short shots in the last few minutes of play, Green Camp High School cagers last night won handsily, 32 to 16, and clinched the title in the West section county high school league.

It was the second win of the season of Green Camp over Prospect. Earlier in the season Green Camp took over Prospect team at Green Camp to the tune of 33 to 10. Last night Green Camp triumphed over its opponent's floor.

This win gives Green Camp clear title to top place among the five schools in the west end of Marion County. A win for Prospect would have given each team five wins and one defeat for a tie. By winning last night Green Camp keeps its title for the season clean, with not a loss chalked up against it.

Accurate Passing
The blue jerseyed boys from Green Camp won on their swift passing and accurate shooting. They ran rings around the Prospect lads in the first and fourth quarters, and held their own in the second and third periods. Prospect did not score a point until the second quarter, and then Johnson looped one from the floor, to be followed by Roberts a moment later with another two point marker. With these first four points to climb on, the Prospect lads staged a rally that looked for a time like it might sweep them into the lead, but the closest they came was down to nine. With their margin out eight to one point Green Camp did some fancy floor work and F. Furniss snapped in two baskets, putting the score out of danger. The half ended with the score 16 to 0, with Green Camp on the long end.

The first quarter was all Green Camp, with Prospect on the defensive throughout. Green Camp ran the score to eight to nothing before the first gun bark.

Prospect outscored the Green Camp outfit during the night, but the rally was broken by Ward and Porter, who dropped a goal apiece through the net. Roberts and Russell stood out for Prospect in the third period, with great floor work, and a basket for each. Russell made the final point scored by Prospect in the game, at the end of the third quarter, the ball leaving his hands just as the gun cracked, and dropping through the net.

Prospect's defense faltered before the smashing attack of the Green Camp boys in the fourth quarter, and Prospect seldom had its hands on the ball during the entire period.

Porter started the scoring for Green Camp with two foul shots just after the last period started. F. Furniss contributed a goal from the floor, and then the scoring became general, with Prospect going completely to pieces. Porter dropped in a field goal. F. Furniss came through with another, and then counted with a foul shot. Brickner came down the floor to make a neat basket, and his partner guard, Ward, followed him on the next tip off, grab the ball and toss it through the net.

With 10 seconds to go Prospect called for time out, and before scoring could be done when play was resumed the final gun sounded.

MANSFIELD FIVE SWAMPS
GALION HIGH QUINTET

Wins Fifth N. C. O. League Game by 34-18 Score at Galion

Galion, Feb. 12—Galion's last chance at even a fair showing in the N. C. O. League race was smothered in an avalanche of Mansfield baskets last night when the locals were defeated by a decisive 34-18 score. Although at times the Orangemen displayed an effective brand of the game and were successful in breaking through their opponents' defense, the Mansfield cagers were far superior and showed splendid team work and skill through every minute of play. During the first few minutes it appeared as though the Galionites might give the invaders a real fight but soon were outclassed and although fighting until the very end were forced to admit defeat.

The Richland county players are undoubtedly the best team that fans here have seen in action this season and in the opinion of sport critics are favored to head the list at the close of the season.

An air-tight defense, a whirlwind offense centering around several extraordinarily excellent stars, and ability that enabled them to locate the hoop from almost any position on the floor, made victory possible for the visiting basketballers.

As a preliminary the Galion girls' team triumphed over the local team at Norwalk, 23-11, in a hotly contested game.

Commercials and C. D. & M. to Tie Up In Industrial League Tilt Monday Night

League Leaders and Chief Rivals to Clash in Final Game in Round Tonight; Railway Service Quintet To Play Osgoods; Fairfield and Collegians To Battle

The greatest and most important battle in the Marion Industrial Basketball League, either going or coming, will be staged Monday night in the Star auditorium when the leading C. D. & M. quintet ties up with the strong Commercial team. It's only serious rival for the league title.

It will be a "young" Shovel-Dairy game, if all predictions hold true. The C. D. & M. has not yet been defeated this season and has won nine consecutive league games. The Commercial have tasted defeat at the hands of the C. D. & M. and the Osgoods.

If the C. D. & M. is never going to be whipped this season, the Commercial will turn the trick Monday night. If the Commercial cannot stop the winning streak of the Electricians, no other team in the league can pull the stunt.

Service vs. Osgood
The first entertainment on the schedule Monday night should also prove interesting to basketball fans. The Railway Service will stack up against Osgoods. The Service team met its fourth defeat of the season last week when the Marion Business College pulled the big surprise of the year and downed its opponents, 27 to 23. Osgoods also were defeated last week, taking a 25 to 11 trouncing from the ambitious Fairfield Engineers.

The second game Monday night will feature the Fairfield Engineers pitted against the Marion Business College. It will be another battle. The Engineers during the last two games have been strengthened by the presence of Fisher at center and have played excellent basketball. The Marion Business College has been armed with Wainfor of Prospect and has also taken nobody's dust.

The games Monday will start at the usual time, 7:15 o'clock, with Doc King of Ohio Wesleyan as referee.
